We all howl about the high cost of electricity. Elba folks are no exception to this noise making. Recently while reading an audit of the utility board, I noticed the electric department lost $55,000 on the sale of electricity! This means that the high cost is coming from "up yonder" and is not the fault of the local rate setters. As high as the juice is to us, we have neighboring towns that pay more, and those New York yankees pay even more (when it is working).

The strike of the unionized coal miners is still going on with no settlement in sight. The fact that the recent settlement was turned down by the miners probably points out that the head of the union is not strong enough to sell his viewpoint. We predict he will never be re-elected even if he finishes the present term. In the meantime the entire nation will be forced to slow down, if not stop, due to the lack of coal to generate the electricity to run the country. Unions have matured since the early days in the coal mines and now public opinion rates high with the leaders. I hope they don't get lost in the shuffle for whatever they want, win the battle and lose the war.

Our county commissioners have changed their thinking somewhat on the garbage collection within the county. Now they are going to sell bags to county residents and only pick up these special bags. The high profit will be the garbage pickbedgarweed In beanuits.

Spray Amiben and Premerge 3 tankmix at cracking time.

This season you can really nail Florida beggarweed. Again. With a tankmix application of AMIBEN™ chloramben premergence herbicide and Premerge 3.

AMIBEN with Premerge 3 is registered for use in Georgia, Alabama and Florida. Tests, plus increasing grower use, show it's the first really effective solution to the spreading beggarweed

Here's why: AMIBEN chloramben controls germinating weeds and grasses while Premerge 3, a contact herbicide, quickly burns seedling weeds that have already germinated and are just emerging. It's a "one-two" punch that knocks down beggarweeds.

AMIBEN with Premerge 3 is easy to use. Just apply at cracking time when oldest peanut plants reach two-leaf stage. Or when the first weeds become visible. Check label for correct rates and complete mixing instructions. This season, nail beggarweed in peanuts with a tankmix of AMIBEN and Premerge 3. See your dealer and order enough to protect your entire allotment.

Use AMIBEN herbicide and Premerge 3 in accordance with label directions and only on those crops registered for their use.

AMIBEN  is a trademark of Amchem Products, Inc., for chloramben weedkillers. *Premerge 3 is a trademark of Dow Chemical Co.
